ABOUT THE COURSE

The MBA-PREM is designed to equip you with the advanced knowledge and critical insight needed to thrive in today's dynamic global energy sector. You will build the capabilities to make evidence-informed, responsible decisions, lead diverse teams, and develop sustainable and innovative solutions that align commercial success with environmental and social goals.

There are six entry points throughout the year. This allows you to start when it is most suitable for you.

Develop a systematic understanding of petroleum and renewable energy systems, including market dynamics, strategic management, and regulatory and ethical considerations. You'll also refine your ability to critically analyze complex challenges, conduct applied research, and communicate with clarity and impact.

Delivered fully online in an interactive and flexible format, this supports the development of digital fluency, inclusive leadership, and the professional competencies needed to contribute meaningfully to the UN Sustainable Development Goals and lead effectively across global energy industries.
